The University at a Glance

Since its founding in 1867, the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign has earned a reputation as an institution of international stature. Its distinguished faculty, outstanding resources, breadth of academic programs and research disciplines, and large and diverse student body constitute an educational community ideally suited for scholarship and research.

Known internationally for its achievements in research and graduate study, the University enrolls some 9,000 graduate and professional students in more than 100 disciplines, and attracts more than $184 million a year in private, state, and federal grants and contract appropriations. In recent years, a significant amount of this support has been directed toward the creation and development of major centers for advanced research and study, including more than $100 million for the National Center for Supercomputing Applications and the Center for Supercomputing Research and Development. Together, these two centers have established the University as a recognized world leader in the fields of supercomputing architecture, design, and applications. In 1989, the University inaugurated the Arnold O. and Mabel M. Beckman Institute for Advanced Science and Technology. The most visible example of the University's commitment to interdisciplinary study, the institute brings together investigators from several disciplines for the study of human and artificial intelligence.

The University's research mission shares prominence with a fundamental commitment to undergraduate education. Nearly 27,000 undergraduate students are enrolled in 10 undergraduate divisions, together offering more than 4,000 courses in more than 150 fields of study. The divisions include the College of Agriculture, College of Applied Life Studies, College of Commerce and Business Administration, College of Communications, College of Education, College of Engineering, College of Fine and Applied Arts, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Institute of Aviation, and School of Social Work.

About 30 percent of the campus' graduates choose to continue their education in graduate or professional schools. Typically, 90 percent of graduates who apply to law school are accepted; 78 percent are accepted to medical school.

Academic resources on the campus are among the finest in the world. The University of Illinois Library at Urbana-Champaign is the third largest academic collection in the nation, housing more than 11 million items in the main library and 38 departmental libraries. Only Harvard and Yale have larger collections. The Library's computerized cataloging system was the first in the world to serve as the primary access to a large academic library. Users can access the Library's collections from more than 200 computer terminals placed throughout the campus.

The University supports a long tradition in computer-aided education. PLATO, the largest computer-based instructional system in the world, was developed at the University of Illinois nearly 30 years ago. Today, more than 65,000 users worldwide take advantage of 22,000 instructional material files at 2,200 terminals each day. NovaNET, the University's newest full-service computer network, delivers computer-aided instruction via satellite.

In recent years, the University has entered into cooperative agreements with such corporations as IBM, AT&T, Apple, and Zenith, placing 8,000 computer terminals in classrooms, residence halls, and campus libraries for use in classroom instruction, study, and research. Project EXCEL (Excellence in Computer-aided Education and Learning), an IBM-supported program initiated in 1984, encourages the development of curriculum software packages in undergraduate classrooms across the ampus.

Among the University's most ignificant resources is its talented nd highly respected faculty. More han 80 faculty members belong to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the National Academy of Sciences, or the National Academy of Engineering. Nine scientists have eceived the National Medal of Science nd 42 have received the Presidential Young Investigators Award while n the faculty. Professor Emeritus ohn Bardeen won the Nobel Prize n physics twice--the only person ever to do so.

Another prime indicator of the University's excellence is the success of its alumni. Eight graduates have won Nobel Prizes for the United States, nd another 16 have won Pulitzer Prizes. Nine chief executives of Fortune 500 companies are alumni of the campus.

A major center for the arts, the ampus attracts dozens of nationally nd internationally renowned artists each year to its widely acclaimed Krannert Center for the Performing Arts. Designed by alumnus Max Abramovitz, an architect of New York City's Lincoln Center and of the University of Illinois Assembly Hall, he facility has four indoor theatres nd an outdoor amphitheatre. Together, they host more than 275 performances each year, including hose by major symphony orchestras, classical and modern ballet companies, nd individual artists such as Luciano Pavarotti, Jean-Pierre Rampal, nd Issac Stern.

The University also supports hree major museums: the Krannert Art Museum, second in size only to he Art Institute of Chicago among Illinois public art museums; the World Heritage Museum; and the

Altgeld Hall and the Alma Mater Statue

Museum of Natural History.

Other major facilities include the Assembly Hall (16,153 seats), Memorial Stadium (69,200 seats), and the Intramural-Physical Education Building, one of the largest recreational facilities of its kind on a university campus.

Located in east-central Illinois in the cities of Urbana and Champaign (population 100,000), the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign is the state of Illinois' flagship public university.

President Stanley O. Ikenberry

Stanley O. Ikenberry was appointed President of the University of Illinois in 1979. Since then he has maintained the University's triple mission of teaching, research and public service in pursuit of the goal of making the University of Illinois the best public university in America. His leadership at Illinois is marked by an exceedingly strong commitment to the human resources of the University and to the humanizing value of the University for society.

President Ikenberry has responsibility for all aspects of University operations, including campuses at Urbana-Champaign and Chicago, an enrollment of about 60,000 students, and an annual operating budget of more than $1 billion.

President Ikenberry received his doctorate in higher education research from Michigan State University in 1960. He taught at Michigan State and at West Virginia University before joining the Center for the Study of Higher Education at the Pennsylvania State University in 1969. He had risen to senior vice president when he was named president of the University of Illinois. He holds honorary degrees from Michigan State University, Millikin University, Illinois College, and Rush University. He is also an Honorary Alumnus of Penn State.

A holder of numerous corporate and civic board memberships, he is chairman of the American Council on Education, co-chairman of the Governor's (Illinois) Commission on Science and Technology, past chairman of both the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges and the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, and executive committee member of the Association of American Universities. Since June, 1987, Ikenberry has been chairman of the Council of Ten, which is composed of the chief executive officers of the Big Ten Conference universities. He also serves as the Big Ten representative to the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) President's Commission. Dr. Ikenberry lives with his wife, Judith, in the President's House in Urbana. The Ikenberrys have three sons.

Chancellor Morton Weir

Morton W. Weir became the campus's fifth chancellor in April of 1988. Weir joined the Urbana-Champaign faculty in 1960 and has served in a variety of faculty and administrative posts since then. Before assuming the leadership of the campus, Weir served as vice president for academic affairs, the senior academic officer for both the Urbana-Champaign and Chicago campuses.

Weir is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and a member of the Society for Research in Child Development, Phi Kappa Phi and Sigma Xi. He has served as editor, member or commissioner for a number of professional journals and organizations. He currently is a member of the national advisory committee of the Ounce of Prevention Fund; on the board of directors of Voices for Illinois Children; and executive commissioner of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools' Commission on Institutions of Higher Education.

Weir received his bachelor's degree, with honors, from Knox College in Galesburg in 1955. He earned a master of arts in 1958 and a doctorate in experimental psychology in 1959, both from the University of Texas at Austin. In 1977, Knox College awarded him an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Weir is a native of Canton. He and his wife, Cecelia, have three children.

University Of Illinois Board Of Trustees

The Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois exercises final authority over the administration and governance of the University, within limits fixed by the Illinois Constitution and state law.

Trustees are elected statewide by the citizens of Illinois in November general elections. The nine elected members serve six-year staggered terms; three terms expire and are filled every two years. Board members serve without pay.

The governor of Illinois is an ex-officio member of the board. Two students, one from each campus, serve single-year terms; student trustee votes are advisory only. The student trustees for 1990-91 are Dawn Kelly (Chicago campus) and Scott Forbes (Urbana-Champaign campus).

The president of the board is elected annually, in January, from among the elected trustees.

 Because of the early printing deadlines for this media guide, the makeup of the Board of Trustees may be different from that shown above. The terms of Trustees Bacon, Gravenhorst and Hahn will have expired on January 1,1991, following the November election, although each expects to seek re-election.*

Academics

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign is among the nation's leading public universities, enrolling some 27,000 talented undergraduate students. Its faculty, prominently represented in the most esteemed scholarly academies, is dedicated to the University's founding land-grant mission -- providing an education that offers the most advanced technical and professional instruction in the context of a broad-based education in the liberal arts and sciences. Students are admitted to one of the University's ten undergraduate divisions that together offer more than 4,000 courses in some 150 programs of study.

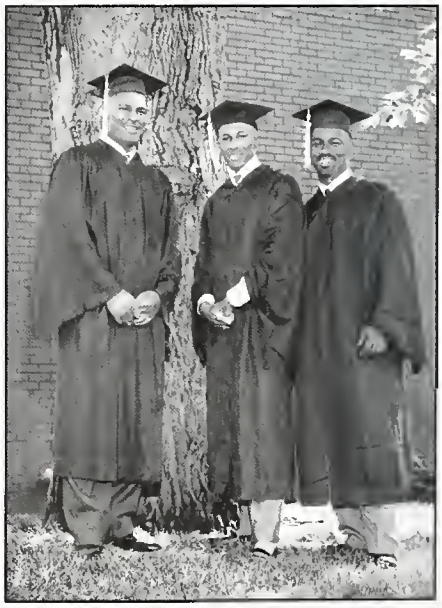

The University's commitment to providing the richest possible educational environment is seen throughout the campus -- from the nation's third largest academic library, to support for innovations in computer-aided instruction and nationally recognized programs and services for disabled students. The Undergraduate Library offers extensive instructional programs on using the library and its services, including library tours, computer workshops, reference services, and term paper research counseling. The University's progressive residence hall system provides a full range of programs and services designed to support each student's academic pursuits.

Assistance is available to all students to help them make the most of these vast resources. Student-athletes benifit from the special programs of the academic services office, and each receives the attention of a full-time academic counselor. Academic services offers educational evaluation, advising, classroom performance monitoring, scheduled study halls, tutoring and effective use of the University facilities.

Among the University's most significant resources is its talented and highly respected faculty. Nine scientists have have received the National Medal of Science and forty-two have received the Presidential Young Investigators Award while on the faculty. Another prime indicator of the University's excellence is the success of its alumni. Eight graduates have won the Nobel Prize for the United States, and another fifteen have won Pulitzer Prizes. Nine chief executives of Fortune 500 companies are alumni of the campus.

The third-largest academic collection in the nation, the UIUC Library now carries many scholarly journals on CD-ROM disks.

Campus Life

In academics, as in athletics, opportunity and support are vital to success. The University of Illinois offers the best of both. Opportunity comes in myriad forms, including:

- More than 4,000 courses in more than 150 fields of study. "A mind-boggling variety of majors is available," wrote Gene Hawes, author of The College Board Guide to Going to College While Working.
- A distinguished faculty. Twice in the last five years, the U of I has led the nation in number of Fulbright Scholars. Illinois faculty members have been named Presidential Young Investigators 42 times since the awards were instituted in 1984. Nine scientists have won the National Medal of Science while serving on the U of I faculty.
- The nation's largest public university library, with more than 7.5 million volumes and more than 11.3 million items.
- Student access to more than 8,000 computer workstations in classrooms, libraries, residence halls and the Illini Union.

Assistance is available to all students to help them make the most of these vast resources. Student-athletes come under the special program of the academic services office, overseen by a full-time academic counselor. It includes educational evaluation, advising, classroom performance monitoring, scheduled study halls, tutoring and effective use of university facilities.

It is little wonder that the 1988 edition of Selective Guide to Colleges, by Edward B. Fiske, education editor of the New York Times, awards the U of I five stars, its highest ranking, and describes it as "a giant among academic institutions, ranking among the world's great universities." Learning and participating are important outside, as well as inside, the classroom. And at the University of Illinois, the opportunities are as limitless in extracurricular arenas as they are in academic arenas.

Housing? First-rate residence halls with good food, the nation's largest fraternity and sorority system, independent housing and a wide range of apartments provide broad choices of where and how to live.

Activities? More than 700 student organizations provide an outlet for every interest, from the philanthropies of Volunteer Illini Projects to the rock music of student radio station WPGU. There are more than 40 student organizations for minority interests.

Sports and recreation? The Intramural-Physical Education Building is one of the largest complexes of its kind on any campus, with four gymnasiums, 23 handball/racquetball courts, weight and exercise equipment, indoor and outdoor pools, tennis courts and more. The U of I has one of the most comprehensive intramural sports programs in the nation. If the great outdoors is more to your liking, the University's 1,500-acre Allerton Park includes sculpture gardens, formal gardens and natural woodlands.

Culture and entertainment? The domed Assembly Hall seats more than 16,000 for rock concerts, ice shows, circuses, Broadway musicals and, of course, Illinois basketball. Beautifully restored Foellinger Auditorium on the Quad seats 1,750 for concerts, films and speakers. And the Krannert Center for the Performing Arts, "Arguably the best performing arts facilities in the nation," according to the education editor of Time Magazine, holds four theaters for plays, dance and concerts by such famed names as the Chicago Symphony and Itzhak Perlman.

Off campus? Champaign and Urbana, with a population of 100,000, offer shopping, restaurants, movie theaters, night spots and many other big-city amenities. Yet, they retain a Midwestern college-town atmosphere.

The Division of Inter-collegiate Athletics

A Brief History

The forerunner of the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics (DIA), the University of Illinois Athletic Association was chartered in 1892 as a not-for-profit corporation by the state of Illinois; it was charged with overseeing and conducting the University's intercollegiate athletic programs and associated support services, and operated as a separate entity.

After the state legislature voted in June, 1989, to bring UI athletics within the University proper, the DIA assumed the functions and responsibilities of the Athletic Association. The Division of Intercollegiate Athletics began operations officially on July 1, 1989.

The Director of Athletics is the Division's chief executive officer, and reports directly to the Chancellor of the Urbana-Champaign campus. The Chancellor has final say regarding the athletic program in all areas except for budget and approval of major appointments. Those decisions rest with the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

The Athletic Board serves the DIA in an advisory capacity. It is composed of 17 members, 14 of which are voting members (eight faculty, four alumni and two students); the three non-voting (ex-officio) members are from the University administration.

The faculty and student members are nominated by the Urbana-Champaign Senate and selected by the Chancellor for consideration by the President of the University and the Board of Trustees.

DIA revenues are derived from three major sources: gate receipts from football and men's basketball; television rights fees for those two sports; and, donations to the Grants/In/Aid (athletic scholarship) program.

The University of Illinois football Squad Room serves as a meeting place for players and coaches and as an interview room for the media after games.

Beautiful Memorial Stadium has a storied history as home for the Fighting Illini since 1923.

The weightroom, located in the new football facility, has been acclaimed among the finest in the nation.

John Mackovic

Director of Athletics/Head Football Coach

(Wake Forest '65, Miami of Ohio '67)

It has been a whirlwind two-plus years for John Mackovic since he was named the University of Illinois' Head Football Coach on Feb. 3, 1988. Consider the following accomplishments since he took over:

- He was named Illinois Director of Athletics on Dec. 23, 1988, one of only two men in the Big Ten Conference who serve as as both Director and Head FootballCoach.

- He's the first man in Big Ten history to become the conference's "Coach of the Year" honoree in each of his first two seasons.

- He's compiled more overall victories (16) and more conference victories (12) over the past two seasons than any other active conference coach.

- He's helped develop more first-team All-Big Ten players (11) over the past two seasons than any other active conference coach.

- He's guided the University of Illinois to consecutive post-season Bowl appearances over the past two seasons, including a victory over Virginia in the 1990 Florida Citrus Bowl.

- He directed Illinois to 10 victories in 1989, becoming only the third coach in UI history to win that many games in a single season.

- His 1989 Fighting Illini team was the first UI squad in six seasons to finish among the nation's top ten teams in the final polls.

John Mackovic, Head Football Coach and Director of Athletics.

Mackovic took over an Illinois team that was coming off back-to-back 4-7 and 3-7-1 seasons. During the past two years under his direction, Mackovic's Fighting Illini teams have recorded marks of 6-5-1 and 10-2. In each of those first two campaigns at Illinois, he was named the Dave McClain-Big Ten Coach of the Year, unprecedented in conference football history. Mackovic's overall record of 16-7-1 is tops among all active Big Ten coaches.

Mackovic's 1989 Fighting Illini team rated as one of the most exciting squads in school history. It tied the school record for most victories in a single season (10), including wins over four teams which played in post-season Bowl games. Illinois' only two losses came against highly rated Colorado and Michigan. The Fighting Illini led several different categories in Big Ten team statistics, including No 1 in total defense and passing offense.

A native of Barberton, Ohio, Mackovic attended Wake Forest, and was a starter at quarterback in a backfield that included his close friend, the late Brian Piccolo. Following his graduation from Wake Forest in 1965, Mackovic accepted a graduate assistant position with fellow Barberton-native Glenn "Bo" Schembechler at Miami of Ohio. After completing work on his master's degree in educational administration, Mackovic served one season as basketball coach at Fort Knox, Ky., with the Army.

Mackovic returned to coaching football in 1968 when he took over the Army's plebe team. During the next eight seasons, he spent time as an assistant at San Jose State, Army (once again), and Arizona. In 1977, he joined Purdue's staff as offensive coordinator, where he was responsible for developing the skills of All-American quarterback Mark Herrmann.

After eight seasons as an assistant coach, Mackovic earned his first head coaching spot at his alma mater, Wake Forest. In his second season with the Deacons, he led them to an 8-3 mark, which produced the school's first appearance ever in the national rankings and a spot in the Tangerine Bowl, only the third Bowl game participation by a Wake Forest team.

Following the 1980 season at Wake Forest, Mackovic gave up his head-coaching duties for the opportunity to work under Tom Landry in the Dallas Cowboys' organization as the quarterback coach. Two successful years with the Cowboys produced NFL playoff berths and saw Danny White emerge as a Pro Bowl quarterback.

In 1983, at the age of 39, Mackovic was selected as the head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs. He quickly took a floundering offense that was among the NFL's worst and turned it into one of the league's most prolific attacks, finishing his first season with the third-best passing attack in the NFL. Three rebuilding years paid dividends in 1986 as the Chiefs posted a 10-6 record and earned the team's first NFL playoff appearance in 15 years. In doing so, Mackovic became one of the few coaches in the game today to take losing teams in both collegiate and professional football and turn them into winning organizations.

Prior to accepting the position of head coach at Illinois, Mackovic served as president of the Cypress Professional Development Group, a consulting and training organization targeted to middle and upper-level management. He also founded and established his own company-- Yes,

On the Illinois sideline vs. Wisconsin last season.

Inc.-- a service-related organization directed to motivational speaking with radio and television exposure. He currently serves as president of Yes, Inc.

Mackovic also has been active in a number of civic and charity events, including the Champaign-Urbana March of Dimes. He also is a member of the Board of Directors of First of America Bank in Champaign.

Mackovic, born October 1, 1943, in Barberton, Ohio, is a frequent golfer who sports a single-digit handicap and has recorded two holes-in-one. He and his wife, Arlene, have two children, Aimee and John. The family resides in Champaign.

Miscellaneous Mackovic Notes:

• In two seasons at Illinois, John Mackovic has compiled a record of 12-3-1 in Big Ten Conference contests. With the victory last season at Iowa on Nov. 4, 1989, he joined an elite group of just seven other coaches who posted 10 Big Ten victories within their first 13 league games. In all-time Big Ten history (165 other coaches), only the following men accumulated 10 Big Ten victories faster than Mackovic.

• John Mackovic's Illinois teams are 6-1-1 in Big Ten road games during his two years as the Fighting Illini's head coach.

Michigan's Fielding Yost (10 victories in 10 games), 1901-03

Ohio State's Earle Bruce (10 victories in first 10 games), 1979-80

Michigan's Bo Schembechler (10 victories in first 11 games), 1969-70

Michigan's Benny Oosterbaan (10 victories in first 11 games), 1948-49

Ohio State's Francis Schmidt (10 victories in first 11 games), 1934-35

Among the men who did not post Big Ten victory No. 10 within their first 13 games were Ohio State's Woody Hayes, Michigan's Fritz Crisler, Iowa's Forest Evashevski, Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, Illinois' Bob Zuppke, and Minnesota's Bernie Bierman.

• John Mackovic is the first Illinois coach since Bob Zuppke to lead the Fighting Illini to winning seasons in each of his first two seasons. Zuppke was 4-2-1 in 1913 and 7-0-0 in 1914.

• Illinois' record under John Mackovic when leading after...
1st Quarter: 12-1
2nd Quarter: 14-1-1
3rd Quarter: 12-0-1

• Eight of John Mackovic's Fighting Illini players were accorded first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1989, more than any other team in Illinois history. Six of the eight return to play for Illinois in 1990. UI's 1983 Big Ten championship team had seven first-team All-Big Ten selections.

• Eight of John Mackovic's Illinois players have been accorded Academic All-Big Ten honors over the past two seasons.

• Only Ohio State's Earle Bruce and Michigan's Bo Schembechler have won as many or more games in their first two Big Ten seasons as Illinois'

John Mackovic. Mackovic's 12 wins (12-3-1) in 1988 and '89 is exceeded by only Bruce's two-year total of 15 victories (15-1) during the 1979 and '80 campaigns, and matched by Schembechler's two-year total of 12 wins (12-2) in 1969 and '70.

• Jeff George, John Mackovic's quarterback in 1988 and '89, became the first University of Illinois player in history to be selected as the No. 1 pick in the National Football League draft. George's selection by the Indianapolis Colts as the NFL's top choice marks just the third time that a Big Ten player has been the No. 1 pick. Michigan State's Bubba Smith was the top pick in 1967 and Ohio State's Tom Cousineau was the NFL's top selection in 1979.

• Moe Gardner, John Mackovic's standout defensive nose tackle, last year became the University of Illinois' first consensus defensive All-American since linebacker Dick Butkus in 1965. Gardner, who returns for his senior season in 1990, was the Big Ten's "Defensive Player of the Year" in 1989 and was among three finalists for the prestigious Outland Trophy as college's football's top lineman.

• John Mackovic's First-Team Athletic All-Big Ten Honor Roll: 1988: Moe Gardner, NT; Darrick Brownlow, LB, and Glenn Cobb, S. 1989: Jeff George, QB; Moe Gardner, NT; Mel Agee, DT; Darrick Brownlow, LB; Henry Jones, CB; Curtis Lovelace, C; Mike Bellamy, WR; Marlon Primous, S.

• John Mackovic's Academic All-Big Ten Players: 1988: Mel Agee, Peter Freund, Kurt Gregus, Bill Henkel, Curt Lovelace. 1989: Kurt Gregus, Mike Hopkins, Curtis Lovelace.

In 1972 he accepted the defensive coordinator position at William & Mary where he stayed for six years. In 1978, Bill Dooley lured him to Virginia Tech to coach the linebackers, a job he held until 1983 when he joined Bill McCartney's staff at Colorado.

Tepper earned a physical education and English degree from Rutgers College in 1967. He was a three-year letterman at Rutgers as a defensive back, leading the team in interceptions as a junior and in total tackles his senior season.

1990 Outlook

The return of 18 starters from last season's highly successful football team has Head Coach John Mackovic cautiously optimistic as the University of Illinois gridders enter the 1990 season, their school's centennial campaign.

Nine members of Illinois' dominating defensive club, plus 1988 starter John Wachter, make this one of the nation's most outstanding defensive units. Offensively, Mackovic must compete without quarterback Jeff George, the NFL's No. 1 draft pick, all-star receiver Mike Bellamy, and veteran lineman Craig Schneider. Despite that trio's departure, the remaining eight Fighting Illini starters from the 1989 squad are back to form a potent nucleus.

Most preseason publications have listed the Fighting Illini as one of the favorites in the 1990 Big Ten race and among the nation's top ten teams. As usual, the schedule is very challenging. In addition to the tough eight-game Big Ten schedule, Illinois is faced with the prospects of playing its season opener at Pac Ten power Arizona, then returning the next week to host national championship contender Colorado. The Fighting Illini play cross-state rival Southern Illinois in their third non-conference contest.

It may be difficult for Illinois to improve upon its 10-2 overall record from a year ago, but Mackovic and his squad will not be satisfied with anything other than the Big Ten championship and a berth in the 1991 Rose Bowl.

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACK: With the departure of Jeff George to the professional ranks, one of the most important objectives during spring practice for Illinois was to determine who would be the team's starting quarterback. When the dust had settled, Jason Verduzco (5-9, 185, So.) emerged as the man in the driver's seat. Verduzco got most of the work with the No. 1 unit during spring drills and seems ready to lead the Fighting Illini in 1990. He saw only limited action a year ago, completing 16 of 26 passes for 172 yards and one touchdown. Ready to challenge Verduzco this fall are Jeff Kinney (6-4, 193, So.), who stayed out of contact drills during the spring due to a rib injury; Forry Wells (6-4, 200, Fr.); and Duke Tobin (6-1, 194, Fr.). Incoming freshman J.J. O'Laughlin (6-4, 205) will also get a chance to display his abilities during fall workouts.

MACKOVIC ON QUARTERBACKS: "The quarterback position will be a key position, no matter who is playing. It will be difficult for anyone to play to the level that Jeff George did last season, but I'm encouraged by the way our young quarterbacks progressed during the spring."

RUNNING BACKS: Most college teams would love to have the problem that faces Illinois' Coach Mackovic at the running back position. The Fighting Illini might have the Big Ten's top all-around back in fullback Howard Griffith (5-11, 218, Sr.). Griffith may not gain 1,000 yards (though he ran for 747 yards in 1989), but he ranks with the best in terms of blocking, catching the ball and running the ball. Griffith's replacement at fullback will likely be Kameno Bell (5-10, 210, Jr.), who carried the ball sparingly (15 attempts for 82 net yards), but displayed fine skills as a receiver out of the backfield (9 receptions for 83 yards). Three sophomores will share duty at the running back position. Ranked No. 1 at that spot going into the fall is Wagner Lester (6-2, 220, So.), Illinois' second-leading rusher a year ago (375 yards and four TDs). Challenging Lester for playing time are Steve Feagin (5-11, 192), who rushed for 372 yards last season, and Darren Boyer (5-10, 205) who carried the ball 11 times for 47 in 1989 before being injured in the Colorado game.

MACKOVIC ON RUNNING BACKS: "The competition will be excellent among the running backs this ball. We should have the flexibility to do several things, both running and passing the ball."

ALL-STAR CANDIDATE: Howard Griffith (All-Big Ten candidate).

RECEIVERS: An area of some concern for Illinois this fall will be the development of its receiving corps. Wide receivers Mike Bellamy, Steven Williams, Luke Petraitus and Dave Silva have all used up their eligibility. That quartet accounted for 104 total receptions a year ago, paced by first-team All-Big Ten pick Bellamy who scored eight TDs among his 59 catches. Returning starter Shawn Wax (6-4, 174, Sr.), an All-Big Ten candidate in 1990, will be a primary target this season for Fighting Illini quarterbacks, having grabbed 26 passes for 465 yards and three TDs in '89. Dino Pollock (5-11, 197, Sr.) and Gus Palma (5-11, 198, Jr.) will back up Wax at split end. It's a three-way battle at flanker, consisting of Elbert Turner (5-11, 159, Jr.), Steven Mueller (5-9, 164, So.) and John Wright (6-0, 193, So.). None of the three had any catches last season, but all three shone brightly in 1990 spring drills. At tight end, the Fighting Illini have the best duo in the Big Ten in senior veterans

Frank Hartley (6-3, 260, Sr.) and Jeff Finke (6-5, 223, Sr.). Hartley was a second-team All-Big Ten selection in '89, despite the fact that he had only 11 catches for 125 yards and one TD. Finke had 14 receptions for 151 yards last season. Both have great hands and are outstanding blockers. Their back-ups at tight end include Dave Olson (6-3, 223, Fr.) and Kraig Koester (6-4, 231, Fr.).

MACKOVIC ON WIDE RECEIVERS: "Shawn Wax will definitely move up in the number of plays that he plays and the number of routes that we choreograph for him. We will continue to work hard with our passing game in preseason drills to develop our young receivers."

ALL-STAR CANDIDATES: Flanker Shawn Wax (All-Big Ten candidate) and tight end Frank Hartley (All-Big Ten candidate).

OFFENSIVE LINE: With All-America candidate Curtis Lovelace and All-Big Ten candidate Tim Simpson among four of five returning starters in 1990, this is one of the strengths of the Fighting Illini gridders. Only left tackle Craig Schneider has been lost to graduation. Lovelace (6-3, 257, Sr.), the first-team All-Big Ten center in 1989, has already been selected to one preseason All-America team in '90. He's also a candidate for Academic All-America honors. He's backed up by Rich Gianacakos (6-5, 285, Sr.). Simpson (6-2, 283, Jr.), at left guard, is one of the Big Ten's future stars, possessing all the necessary qualities for stardom. Offensive line coach Mike Deal rates Simpson "the best run blocker" he's coached. Jay Edwards (6-2, 260, Fr.) and Jeff Demaske (6-4, 274, Jr.) will battle for time behind Simpson. At right guard, returning starter Cam Pepper (6-5, 270, Sr.) could also be mentioned for for postseason honors. Veteran Rich Herr (6-2, 258, Sr.) will relieve Pepper at that position. Another budding star is right tackle Tony Laster (6-3, 266, Jr.). Laster will be given an occasional breather from Randy Bierman (6-5, 286, Fr.). Jim Pesek (6-4, 280, So.) enters fall drills as Schneider's replacement at left tackle, but he'll be pressed by Ed Pedersen (6-6, 274, Sr.) and Brad Hopkins (6-3, 274, So.).

MACKOVIC ON OFFENSIVE LINE: "Our offensive line is one of the strengths of our team, as far as the maturity level. They are developing a pride in both their run blocking and pass protection."

ALL-STAR CANDIDATES: Center Curtis Lovelace (All-America and Academic All-America candidate) and guard Tim Simpson (All-Big Ten candidate).

DEFENSE

DEFENSIVE LINE: Illinois just might have the best defensive line in all of college football. The headliner, of course, is nose tackle Moe Gardner (6-2, 258, Sr.) who was a consensus first-team All-America selection in 1989, as well as a finalist for the Outland Trophy. Most teams resorted to double- and tripleteaming him last fall, opening holes for his teammates. Gardner was selected as the Big Ten's top defensive lineman in 1989 and should repeat that honor this fall. Mark Zitnik (6-3, 246, Jr.) will be Gardner's back-up. The Fighting Illini tackles are Sean Streeter (6-3, 265, Jr.) and John Wachter (6-2, 251, Sr.). Streeter was a steady performer a year ago while Wachter was a standout two seasons ago, and both could be in line for all-star honors. Streeter's back-up, Eric Foggey (6-3, 283, So.), may have to wait a year before he gets to prove his enormous potential. Jon Gustafsson (6-6, 284, Jr.) and Mike Poloskey (6-3, 250, Jr.) will battle for playing time behind Wachter. It appears that first-team All-Big Ten tackle Mel Agee will be tried at the rush linebacker position in 1990, but he could return to the front line if necessary.

MACKOVIC ON DEFENSIVE LINE: "We are fortunate to have some terrific players who have worked hard, who have gained success, and who push each other to develop into better players."

ALL-STAR CANDIDATES: Moe Gardner (All-America candidate, Outland Trophy candidate and Lombardi Award candidate); Sean Streeter (All-Big Ten candidate); and John Wachter (All-Big Ten candidate).

LINEBACKERS: The four-man linebacker corps is anchored by two-time All-Big Ten and two-time Butkus Award finalist Darrick Brownlow (5-10, 239, Sr.) at inside linebacker. Brownlow is a pre-season All-America candidate and should be a favorite for the Butkus Award during his final season. Brownlow's back-up is Aaron Shelby (6-1, 223, Fr.). At the other inside linebacker position is starter Bill Henkel (6-1, 212, Sr.) and his back-up, John Sidari (6-1, 222, Fr.). One of the season's most interesting stories could be the possible switch from tackle to rush linebacker by Mel Agee (6-4, 284, Sr.). Agee was a first-team All-Big Ten pick a year ago at defensive tackle and is a legitimate candidate for All-America honors in 1990. Jim Shaffer (6-2, 229, So.) and Todd Leach (6-1, 237, Fr.) will see time as substitutes behind Agee. Romero Brice (6-4, 208, Sr.) is the returning starter at the drop linebacker position, but veteran Julyon Brown (6-3, 215, Jr.) will get his fair share of playing time.

MACKOVIC ON LINEBACKERS: "Darrick Brownlow and Mel Agee are two of the best at their position in the country. We have several quality young players who are ready to step in, but they may have to wait until next season."

ALL-STAR CANDIDATES: Darrick Brownlow (All-America candidate and Butkus Award candidate) and Mel Agee (All-America candidate).

SECONDARY: All four members of Illinois' defensive backfield were accorded all-star accolades in 1989. They will all be back in 1990, so opponent quarterbacks will probably think twice before throwing balls in their direction. Right cornerback Henry Jones (6-0, 191, Sr.) and free safety Marlon Primous (6-2, 216, Jr.) both won first-team All-Big Ten honors last fall; left cornerback Chris Green (5-11, 181, Sr.) won second-team all-conference laurels; and strong safety Quintin Parker (6-1, 191, Sr.) was an honorable mention All-Big Ten selection. As a foursome, they were the Big Ten's No. 1 unit in defending the pass, and ranked No. 4 nationally. Even the talent level among the back-ups is above average, so backfield coach Steve Bernstein has to feel very comfortable about his secondary. Battling for playing time behind Jones at right cornerback will be veteran Jerry Hamner (5-11, 197, Sr.). The key reserve at the left cornerback spot will be Filmel Johnson (5-9, 182, Fr.). Competition for action behind Primous at free safety will be between Mike Hopkins (5-9, 184, Jr.) and Patrick Donnelly (6-0, 202, Sr.). Steve Nelson (5-10, 187, Sr.) will back-up Parker at strong safety.

MACKOVIC ON SECONDARY: "We have a corps of experienced players in the secondary who can make big plays and add a different dimension to our team. Every one of our starters has the potential to earn all-star honors."

ALL-STAR CANDIDATES: Henry Jones (All-America candidate and Jim Thorpe Award candidate); Marlon Primous (All-America candidate and Jim Thorpe Award candidate); Chris Green (All-Big Ten candidate) and Quintin Parker (All-Big Ten candidate).

KICKING GAME

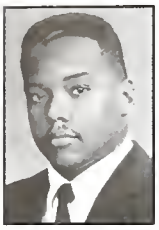

PUNTERS: Two red-shirt freshmen emerged from spring drills in a virtual dead heat for starting duties. Forry Wells (6-4, 200, Fr.) and Jim Harness (6-1, 170, Fr.) both showed signs of great potential during spring drills, but need to improve their consistency.

PLACEKICKERS: Doug Higgins (6-0, 188, Sr.) is the only returning veteran among all of Illinois' kicking specialists. Higgins kicked six of nine field goals a year ago, but none were longer than 38 yards. With Chris Siambekos' graduation, Mackovic will need to find a new man to solve the Fighting Illini's long kicking game, both on field goals and kickoffs. Incoming freshman Chris Richardson (6-3, 225, Fr.) will get a legitimate shot to prove his worth during fall drills.

MACKOVIC ON KICKING GAME: "We expect Doug Higgins to bounce back from a sub-par year due to an injury. Both Forry Wells and Jimmy Harness have strong legs, and seem to be prepared to go in and do the job."

1989 Illinois Football Season in Review

Game #1

September 4, 1989, Los Angeles Coliseum, Los Angeles, Calif. (54,622)

ILLINOIS 14
Southern Cal 13

The Glasnost Bowl, originally scheduled between Illinois and Southern Cal for Sept. 2 in Moscow, USSR, instead became a nationally televised Labor Day season opener at the Coliseum in Los Angeles, Calif. USC, ranked firmly in everyone's preseason Top 5, had one of the top returning defenses in the nation with three returning All-Americans. Illinois returned a veteran defense, but one that was still young and mostly untested. For three and one-half quarters the defenses slugged it out, neither letting the opposing offense get untracked. USC took a 13-0 lead on two Rodriguez field goals and a 37-yard TD run following a blocked punt by Marcus Hopkins. However, Illinois quarterback Jeff George would not be denied the heroics. The comeback started on a 53-yard pass play to Shawn Wax that first tipped off the hands of a Trojan defender before Wax took it in for the score. After forcing another Trojan punt, George took Illinois on a 10-play, 80-yard drive that ended with a 20-yard touchdown pass to Steven Williams. An unbelievable finish before a national TV audience - but not the last.

Game #2
September 16, 1989, Folsom Field, Boulder, Colo. (46,747)

ILLINOIS 7
Colorado 38

In what was labeled by the local media as the biggest game at Colorado in a decade, the Buffaloes came out ready to stampede while the Fighting Illini could do nothing to stop the high-powered Colorado offense. Just about the only bright spot of the day was when Illinois tied the score at seven on a one-yard touchdown run by Howard Griffith. After that, it was all Colorado. The only team to effectively move the ball on Illinois all year, Colorado piled up 475 yards in total offense. This despite 13 tackles for loss by the Illinois defense. After two straight tough road games, Illinois was looking to come to Champaign for some home cookin'.

Game #3

September 23, 1989, Memorial Stadium, Champaign, Ill. (61,553)

Utah State 2
ILLINOIS 41

After losing to a verytough Colorado team that would eventually go on to contend for the national championship, Illinois turned in what may be its finest defensive effort in many years. Against a rock-solid Fighting Illini defense, the Aggies could manage just three first downs, 65 net yards rushing and 17 yards passing for a total offense of 82 yards. On the other side of the ledger, Illinois ran up 507 yards of total offense, including 322 rushing yards. Although no Illinois rusher went over 100 yards on the day, four rushers finished with more than 64 yards. Ken Thomas led the attack with 77 yards, followed by Wagner Lester, Howard Griffith and Errol Shavers with 69, 67 and 64 yards, respectively. Illinois quarterback Jeff George attempted just 18 passes on the day, but completed 12 for 180 yards and two TDs. Illinois' top seven rushers averaged 8.2 yards per carry. The Illinois defense never allowed Utah State to get started on offense by allowing only one third down conversion out of 13 tries and three pass completions out of 18 attempts.

Game #4

October 7, 1989, Memorial Stadium, Champaign, Ill. (69,088)

Ohio State 14
ILLINOIS 34

In the opening game of the Big Ten season, it was again the Illinois defense that controlled the opposition, and an explosive Illinois offense that provided the final margin. When Illinois quarterback Jeff George stayed on the ground after a sack by Ohio State's Aaron Spellman, the Fighting Illini faithful had no idea how his replacement, Jason Verduzco, would react to the critical situation. Replacing George with nearly 10 minutes remaining in the first quarter, Verduzco completed nine of 14 passes for 126 yards and led the Fighting Illini to two first-half touchdown drives and a 14-3 lead. George returned in the second half to help Illinois score 24 more points and put the game away. Howard Griffith led the Illinois running attack with 117 yards, while George completed 12 of 20 passes for 130 yards. Illinois also used a little razzle-dazzle when wide receiver Steven Williams lofted a 34-yard touchdown pass to Mike Bellamy, who finished the game with 10 catches for 152 yards. Moe Gardner earned AP Midwest Defensive Player of the Week honors after being credited with nine tackles, including two tackles for loss, and a fumble recovery.

October 14, 1989, Ross-Ade Stadium, West Lafayette, Ind. (41,101)

Purdue 2

Illinois quarterback Jeff George returned to West Lafayette, where he started his college career before transferring to Illinois, and promptly led the Fighting Illini to an 80-yard TD drive on the first possession of the game. Illinois would pile up some more impressive numbers on offense with 421 yards of total offense, but penalties kept stalling Fighting Illini drives. The Illinois defense held the Boilermaker run-and-shoot offense to just 144 yards of total offense. The Fighting Illini couldn't breathe easy until the final minutes of the game when George led Illinois on an 80-yard TD drive, capped by seven consecutive carries by Howard Griffith which included a one-yard touchdown plunge.

ILLINOIS 14
Michigan State 10

A miracle. When a team is having a great season, sometimes it takes a miracle finish or two to turn a good season into a great season. The Spartans and Fighting Illini hooked up in a nationally televised (ESPN) defensive struggle on a crisp fall afternoon in East Lansing. After taking the opening kickoff and driving 75 yards for the opening score, keyed by a 53-yard pass play from Jeff George to Mike Bellamy, the Illinois offense again

George to Mike Bellamy, the Illinois offense again sputtered and hoped its nationally ranked defense could keep them in the game. The Spartans returned the opening kickoff of the second half to the Illinois seven-yard line to set up a touchdown, and then moved the ball 91 yards on 16 plays to set up a 21-yard John Langloh field goal to give MSU a 10-7 lead with less than five minutes remaining in the game. Mike Bellamy returned the following kickoff 40 yards to give George & Co. good field position at the Illinois 40-yard line. Six plays later, with just 1:47 remaining, Illinois turned the ball over on downs. But the Illinois defense didn't quit. On the very next play, MSU's Hyland Hickson fumbled the ball to Illinois' Quintin Parker after being hit by Brian Williams. George wouldn't waste any time. Three passes later, he found Bellamy open in the end zone to cap the 35-yard drive and give Illinois a miracle-victory. Nose tackle Moe Gardner was named AP Defensive Player of the Week after registering 12 tackles, a quarterback sack and recovering one fumble, and George was named UPI Big Ten Offensive Player of the Week for his heroic effort.

Game #7

October 28, 1989, Memorial Stadium, Champaign, Ill. (64,856)

Wisconsin	9
ILLINOIS	32

A Halloween-weekend crowd must have thought both teams had crossed the path of black cats by the way this game began. First, Wisconsin's Fred Owens ran the opening kickoff 96 yards for a touchdown. On the extra point attempt, Illinois' Jerry Hamner blocked the kick into the hands of Quintin Parker, who ran out of the end zone 100 yards down the west sideline for a rare defensive extra point (two points). After the Wisconsin kickoff, Jeff George marched Illinois 61 yards on two plays, capped by a 45-yard TD pass from George to Howard Griffith giving Illinois a 9-6 lead just 53 seconds into the game. The Illinois defense was again outstanding, allowing 94 yards passing, 145 yards rushing and only a field goal the rest of the day for the Badgers. Griffith finished the game with 85 yards rushing while George completed 17 of 28 passes for 214 yards and three TD tosses. Parker was named AP Midwest Defensive Player of the Week for his effort which included 13 tackles, one quarterback sack, one interception and the defensive extra point return.

Kinnick Stadium, Iowa City, Iowa (67,700)

ILLINOIS	31
Iowa	7

The Fighting Illini travelled to Iowa City for their first match-up with the dangerous Iowa Hawkeyes since 1986. Jeff George and the Illinois offense ran up 28 first downs and 507 yards of total offense while the Illinois defense allowed just 49 Hawkeye rushing yards to control the Iowa ground game. Illinois scored first with just over five minutes remaining in the first half on a Howard Griffith one-yard run. After Henry Jones returned a Matt Rodgers interception 38 yards, George hit Mike Bellamy with a 25-yard TD pass for a 14-0 lead. Three plays later, Illinois linebacker Steve Glasson intercepted another pass and returned it 16 yards to the 46 yard line with 47 seconds left in the half. George completed four straight passes to the Iowa one yard line before Wagner Lester bowled over the goal line to give Illinois a 21-0 lead with 12 seconds left in the half. From there, the Illinois defense took over and held Iowa scoreless four times when the Hawkeyes had the ball inside the Illinois 20-yard line. Glasson was named AP Midwest Defensive Player of the Week for his efforts which included 11 tackles and two interceptions.

Game #9

November 11, 1989
Memorial Stadium, Champaign, Ill (73,069)

Michigan 24
ILLINOIS 10

For the second year in a row, Illinois and Michigan played each other for the inside track to the Big Ten Championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl. Both teams had nationally ranked defenses coming into the game, and it was expected to be a low-scoring, hard-hitting affair. Michigan's Tony Boles changed that complexion on the second play from scrimmage by taking a hand-off from Michael Taylor and running 73 yards to the Illinois one-yard line. The Wolverines pushed the ball across the goal line on the very next play to stake an early 7-0 lead. Jeff George and the Fighting Illini came right back with an 85-yard drive of their own to knot the score at seven on a Howard Griffith three-yard dive. Back came the Wolverines. J.D. Carlson finished a grueling 16-play, 63-yard drive that ate up 7:54 with a 47-yard field goal. Illinois countered with a Doug Higgins 25-yard field goal seconds into the second quarter to again tie the score. However, Michigan's Taylor was not through. He again led his team on an impressive 80-yard drive that was capped with his own two-yard dive into the end zone. The Illinois offense stumbled and couldn't score for the remainder of the game against the tough Wolverine defense. A third-quarter goal line stand on fourth down took the heart out of the Fighting Illini before Boles finished the scoring with a 13-yard TD run late in the fourth quarter. For the day, George ended up with 253 yards passing on 22 completions out of 38 attempts. Wagner Lester was the lone bright spot in the Illinois rushing attack with 47 yards on just five carries. The Michigan key was 266 rushing yards to control the ball for nearly 10 more minutes than Illinois. The Fighting Illini no longer controlled their own Rose Bowl destiny.

Game #10
November 18, 1989, Memorial Stadium, Champaign, Ill. (53,368)

Indiana	28
ILLINOIS	41

After dropping a tough game to Michigan the week before, the Fighting Illini needed to regroup for the explosive Indiana Hoosiers and Heisman Trophy candidate Anthony Thompson. Before the day was through, 69 points would be scored. The Illinois offense, led by Jeff George's four first- half TD passes, put 28 points on the board in the first half to claim a 28-14 lead. George threw scoring strikes of 18 and 21 yards to Mike Bellamy, 38 yards to Shawn Wax and 30 yards to Steven Williams. Hoosier quarterback Dave Schnell threw a touchdown pass in the second quarter that broke a streak of 49 quarters in which the Fighting Illini had not allowed at TD pass by an opposing quarterback. The Hoosiers were still within striking distance until Bellamy returned the opening kickoff of the second half 89 yards to the Hoosier five-yard line where George threw his fifth TD pass of the day, again to Bellamy for his third score of the day. Thompson came back with a 20-yard TD jaunt that would make him the NCAA's all-time leading scorer to make the score 35-21. Indiana got the ball back and was threatening to score again before a pass deflection by Romero Brice ended up in the hands of Brian Williams, who rambled 92 yards with the interception for a touchdown to finish the Fighting Illini scoring. The game marked Illinois' fifth game on ABC and seventh on national television during the '89 season. Mike Bellamy, who set an Illinois record with 170 yards in returns, was named ABC's Player of the game.

Game 11

November 25, 1989, Dyche Stadium, Evanston, Ill (31,017)

ILLINOIS 63
Northwestern 14

With a possible share of the Big Ten title, Illinois traveled to Evanston for the final game of the regular-season. A win would be the ninth of the year, a total that only five other Illinois teams had reached in 99 previous seasons of football. Three first-half interceptions by Illinois were converted into into touchdowns as Illinois scored 42 points in the first 30 minutes. Jeff George was spectacular, hitting on 15 of 18 passes for three touchdowns. Mike Bellamy opened the scoring by running a reverse 16 yards for a touchdown. After Wildcat quarterback Tim O'Brien to toss just the seconed TD pass by a quarterback in 52 quarters against the Illinois defense, George led Ul to five straight touchdowns before the half. Illinois ended the day with 63 points, the most by a Fighting Illini team since defeating Illinois-Normal, 79-6, in 1944. The total was the most points by Illinois in a Big Ten game since defeating Northwestern 64-8, Nov. 21, 1908. For his efforts, George was named AP Midwest and UPI Big Ten Offensive Player of the Week. After the game, Paul Roddy, executive chairman of the Florida Citrus Sports Association, issued an invitation to the Illinois football team to play Virginia in the 44th Annual Florida Citrus Bowl, Jan. 1, 1990.

Game 12

January 1, 1990, Florida Citrus Bowl, Orlando, Fla. (60,016)

Virginia 21

Illinois entered the 1990s with a much-deserved Jan. 1-Bowl game appearance against the explosive Virginia Cavaliers at the Florida Citrus Bowl. The match-up would be the Fighting Illini's eighth game on national television and the first appearance at a Jan. 1 Bowl other than the Rose Bowl. Illinois hadn't won a Bowl game since the 1964 Rose Bowl, a streak of four games.
The game started well for Illinois after Virginia's Marcus Wilson fumbled the opening kickoff from Chris Siambekos, which was recovered by Illinois' Bill Henkel at the Cavalier 26-yard line. It took Jeff George just five plays to put the fIghting Illini on the scoreboard with a 15-yard scoring strike to Steven Williams in the end zone. After an exchange of punts, Virginia quarterback Shawn Moore had the Cavaliers on the move to the Illinois 11-yard line before linebacker Darrick Brownlow intercepted a pass in the end zone.In the second quarter, Moore tied the game with a 30-yard touchdown pass. George came right back by directing an 80-yard drive that ended with one of the slickest fake hand-offs ever seen, procucing a TD pass play to wide-open tight end Dan Donovan on fourth down from the one-yard line. The final score of the half came on a Doug Higgins 34-yard field goal with no time left on the clock for an Illinois 17-7 lead. Illinois jumped to a 24-7 lead after the opening possession of the second half when George directed an 84-yard, 10-play drive highlighted by a three-yard TD run by Howard Griffith. Virginia scored again in the third quarter to make it 24-14 before George ended the Illinois scoring with a 24-yard TD pass to Mike Bellamy with less than 13 minutes remaining. That TD pass set a new Illinois record for TD passes in a season with 22. A late TD pass by Shawn Moore to Herman Moore closed the score to where it would end at 31-21. Jeff George ended his Illinois career by being named the game's Most Outstanding Player after throwing for a season-high 321 yards and three touchdowns. Darrick Brownlow was named Illinois' top defensive player of the game.

100 YEARS OF TRADITION

A 100-Year Tradition

Memorial Stadium

Constructed in 1923, Memorial Stadium, home of the Fighting Illini football team, was built as a memorial to Illinois men who gave their lives for their country during World War I. The men's names appear on 200 columns that support the east and west sides of the stadium.

Donations of approximately $1.7 million made by more than 200,000 students, alumni and other friends of the University, made the construction possible. The Athletic Association (now the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics) later allocated $509,805 to the project for the construction of the south stand and other stadium additions.

The stadium opened November 3, 1923, when Illinois defeated Chicago, 7-0, in a Homecoming victory. The stadium was dedicated officially October 18, 1924. On that day, Illinois not only defeated Michigan, 39-14, for a Homecoming victory, but Harold "Red" Grange accounted for six touchdowns in what remains the single greatest performance in Memorial Stadium history. In the first 12 minutes of that game, Grange ran for a total of 265 yards and scored four times. He had his hands on the ball only six times and left the field before the end of the first quarter.

In the third quarter, Grange returned and ran 13 yards for his fifth touchdown, and in the final period he passed to Marion Leonard for his sixth score of the day. In 42 minutes of playing time, Grange gained a total of 402 yards, carried the ball 21 times and also completed six passes for 64 yards. Legendary coach Amos Alonzo Stagg called it "the most spectacular single-handed performance ever delivered in a major game."

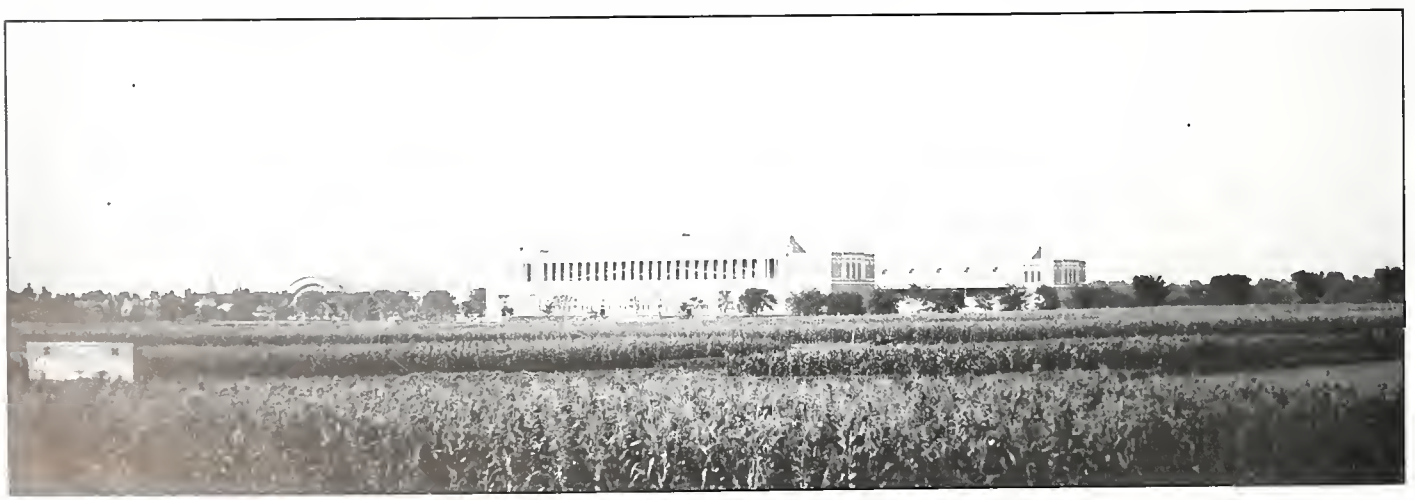

Permanent seating capacity of Memorial Stadium is 70,904, but capacity can be increased to 72,292 through the addition of temporary bleachers. During the 1980s, Memorial Stadium has seen 27 consecutive sell-outs. The single-game attendance record is 78,297 for a 1984 victory over Missouri.

Seventy-one percent of Memorial Stadium seats are between the goal posts with 18,000 in each stand, 10,000 in each balcony and 12,246 in the south stand horseshoe.

Installation of the first artificial turf and a new lighting system was made possible through a 1974 Golden Anniversary campaign drive. The lights make evening games and practices, as well as intramural competition possible.

Other stadium improvements include the 1967 installation of a press box, located at the top of the west balcony; construction of the Ray Eliot Varsity Room, a training table and trophy display area at the southeast corner of the stadium that was built with funds donated by friends of the Athletic Association; a million-dollar stadium renovation project in 1972 that included the addition of aluminum seating and other improvements; a 1977 renovation of the varsity locker rooms and trainer facilities; and a computerized message board installed in 1981 at the north end of the stadium.

In April 1985, $7 million worth of improvements began. Out of this project has come installation of new artificial turf and expansion of the football headquarters in the northeast corner of the stadium. The current artificial surface has the largest vertical drainage system of any synthetic surface in the United States, and is the largest collegiate synthetic playing surface in the nation. It was replaced between the goal lines in the fall of 1989 after vandals burned a 40-yard swath in the middle of the field in the early-morning of Sept. 24. Employees from Astro Turf Industries began removing the destroyed pad and turf on the 26th, and worked around the clock to install a new surface in time for Illinois' scheduled Oct. 7 game against Ohio State.

The Memorial Stadium Practice Dome, more commonly known as "The Bubble," was inflated for the first time in December, 1985, and the Fighting Illini's new locker room facilities opened before the 1986 season. Illinois' record in Memorial Stadium is 183-143-14 beginning the 1990 season.

During five home games in 1989, 321,934 fans visited Memorial Stadium. Illinois' average attendance of 64,386 was 18th among Division I universities in 1989, and was a 6,681 improvement over the UI's 57,706 average (25th place) in 1988.

Ray Eliot, head coach 1942-59, became known as "Mr. Illini."

Illinois Football: A Rich Tradition (1890-1990)

University of Illinois football has enjoyed one of the richest and most innovative traditions in college football ever since player, coach and captain Scott Williams led his fellow UI students in Illinois' first football game, 100 seasons ago against Illinois Wesleyan. Since then, the University of Illinois has established several traditions that have shaped and influenced the style and character of football as it is played today. Illinois has also produced some legendary names in football, athletes who have stood the test of time as the game's greatest players: Grange, Butkus, Grabowski, Halas, Nitschke, and Zuppke.

Much of the credit for the popularity of professional football belongs to Harold "Red" Grange. The red-haired native from Wheaton, Ill., was a three-time All-America at Illinois in 1923, '24, and '25, and became a legend when he scored four touchdowns in the first twelve minutes against Michigan in 1924. He later ran for a fifth touchdown and passed for a sixth as Illinois upset the Wolverines, 39-14, in the Memorial Stadium dedication game. Former Illinois football player George Halas signed Grange to a professional football contract, and "Red" became football's first "star." He attracted huge crowds, in a age when pro football was enjoying little prosperity.

Dick Butkus, football's greatest linebacker, played three years at Illinois (1962, 63, 64). That intense dedication and fierce competitive nature that made him All-America in his final two seasons carried over into his professional career. During his nine-year career as a Chicago Bear, Butkus was All-Pro eight times, and is a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame. In honor of his excellence at his position, the award for college football's top linebacker is named after Dick Butkus.

Among the notable coaches who have led the Fighting Illini include Robert Zuppke, an innovator during his 29 years as Fighting Illini coach, who led the Fighting Illini to four national championships and seven conference titles. An assistant under Zuppke, Ray Eliot was Illinois' inspirational head coach from 1942-1959. "Mr. Illini," as he was known, led Illinois to two Rose Bowl victories in 1947 and 1952. The coaching tradition continues today with UI's as current head coach, John Mackovic, now in his third season. Mackovic is the only Big Ten coach ever to win the Dave McClain award as the conference's coach of the year in his first two seasons.

More than 60 players have earned All-America honors at Illinois including Alex Agase, Claude "Buddy" Young, Scott Studwell, Jim Juriga, David Williams, and Al Brosky, who still holds a 38-year-old NCAA record for most career interceptions with 29.

Also a great breeding ground for quarterbacks, Illinois' passing game of the 1980's has produced four NFL quarterbacks, including Dave Wilson, All-America Tony Eason, Jack Trudeau, and Jeff George, who became Illinois' first number one overall pick in the NFL draft.

No other university has produced more players who are enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame than Illinois' six selections. Collegiately, eight players have earned similar honors in the College Football Hall of Fame, as well as coaches Robert Zuppke, Bob Blackman, E.K. Hall and George Woodruff.

The First Season

In 1889, University of Illinois student Scott Williams noticed a bulletin board card announcing that anyone interested in playing football should report to campus that afternoon.

That day he arrived to see a group of students chasing and kicking a ball in a manner that barely resembled the game of football that he played at State Normal University, just more than 50 miles west of Champaign.

After the boys' workout, Williams assembled the group and gave them instruction on how the ball was passed and kicked. He also explained the scoring system and other points of strategy. The gang reassembled and played a little while longer with Williams as their leader.

The following year Williams and some teammates approached the heads of the athletic department with the hopes that they could represent the UI in a game of football against Illinois Wesleyan at Bloomington. Anticipating little enthusiasm, Williams suggested that the team pay its own expenses, provide uniforms, and pay its own train fare. Permission was granted, and the first University of Illinois football team boarded a train on Thursday, Oct. 2, 1890 to compete in the Illinois Oratorical Association meeting in Bloomington, an athletic competition featuring contests in track, tennis, baseball and football.

With Williams serving as coach, captain and quarterback, Illinois lost to Illinois Wesleyan 16-0. Despite the fact that Illinois had lost the first football game, they went on to win the championship cup for the weekend's activities.

Illinois' second game of the season was against Purdue, a team which had undergone great preparation for the game. The Boilermakers defeated Illinois, 62-0, but the young UI eleven had learned a few lessons from the advanced Purdue team before entering the last game of its first season, a rematch against Wesleyan.

On Nov. 26, 1890, Illinois hosted its first-ever home game. The contest was met with great anticipation in the community. Nearly 300 fans arrived at the Champaign fair grounds to see W.F. Slater score two touchdowns in a 12-6 Illinois victory which ended that first season with a 1-2 record.

Scott Williams stepped down as captain and coach after the 1890 season, but remained on the roster as a player on the 1891 Illinois team, winners of all six games and champions of the Illinois Intercollegiate Football League.

Big Ten Conference

The Big Ten Conference is the premier collegiate athletic conference in the country as packed stadiums, tradition, and great names have graced conference football fields for nearly a century. The Big Ten has sent at least four teams to bowl games for nine consecutive years, as five different schools have won the past seven conference championships.

Formed in 1896 by faculty representatives from the University of Chicago, University of Illinois, University of Michigan, University ot Minnesota, Northwestern University, Purdue University and University of Wisconsin, the Big Ten Conference is the oldest intercollegiate conference in the nation.

Indiana University and the University of Iowa were admitted to membership in 1899 and Ohio State University joined in 1912. The University of Chicago withdrew in 1946 and Michigan State University was admitted in 1949. The Conference's extended family boasts more than two million alumni living around the world, thus adding to the interest and popularity of Big Ten athletics. For 32 of the last 34 years, the Big Ten has led the nation in football attendance, with more than 3.5 million people attending Big Ten football games in 1989.

The 1990 season marks the 95th consecutive year of football competition in the Big Ten. In addition to the UI's 13 conference championships in football, the Fighting Illini won titles in women's gymnastics and baseball in 1989-90, pushing its total number of conference championships to 200. Michigan is the only school with more conference titles.

The Rose Bowl

Each year the Big Ten champion earns the right to represent the conference against the Pacific Ten champ in college football's greatest spectacle, the Rose Bowl.

Today's Rose Bowl had its beginnings in 1890 in Pasadena, Calif., a growing southern California city with a population of fewer than 5,000 people, most of whom had been transplants from cities in the east and midwest.

In late 1889, one of the town's leading citizens proposed to a group of fellow Valley Hunt Club members that it would be nice to have a small parade and display of athletic competitions on New Year's Day. The Pasadena natives had long forgotten their snow-covered homes in the east, and were anxious to showcase their beautiful California climate.

The parade was a line of flower-adorned carriages, and the games consisted of foot races, tugs of war, and jousts among the local citizens.

The foot races and tugs of war kept the townspeople's interest until around 1902. The suggestion then was made to invite two college football teams to compete in the post-season celebration. The two teams that played in college football's first intersectional post-season game were Michigan and Stanford in 1902. Michigan, led by Head Coach Fielding H. (Hurry-Up) Yost, dominated the Stanford team, 49-0, in a game that was stopped with more than nine minutes still remaining. The Rose Bowl had been set back 14 years.

Local residents decided that perhaps football's time had not yet arrived, and for the next 14 years the Rose Bowl gave way to a number of other events.

For many years the main attraction in Tournament Park (the predecessor of the current Rose Bowl stadium, built in 1922) were chariot races, although polo matches attracted equally large crowds. However, in 1912, interest in the chariot races began to decrease following an accident which caused people to speculate chariot racing was too dangerous.

So, in 1913, two unusual events were scheduled. The first, a race between a camel and an elephant, was tried once, and was never repeated. The other idea was just as exciting, but never seemed to catch on with the community. That was the Ostrich race, which proved to be more exciting than earlier planned when one of the jockeys was thrown from his mount. In efforts to capture his stray bird, the jockey found himself kicked across the track. The ostrich races were discontinued.

In 1916, the decision was made to bring back football, and the Rose Bowl has been the "Granddaddy of them all" ever since.

Until 1923, the Tournament of Roses committee selected the two teams that would compete in the New Year's Day classic. From 1923-1946, the west coast representative was allowed to choose its eastern opponent. The decision was made by the Pacific Coast Conference.

The Big Ten sent a representative in 1921 when Ohio State lost to California, 28-0. Following that season, however, the conference established a ban on post-season football games that lasted 26 seasons.

On September 1, 1946, the anti-post season policy was lifted by the Big Ten and a five-year pact was signed between the two conferences allowing Illinois to play UCLA in the 1947 Rose Bowl. The agreement was revised in 1962, and since then the two conference champions have played each year on New Year's Day.

The national awareness and attention given to the Rose Bowl is unequaled. Approximately 125 million television viewers watch the Rose Parade, while more than 90 million view the football game.

The University of Illinois has participated in four Rose Bowl games (1947, 1952, 1964, 1984). The Fighting Illini have won three of the four Rose Bowl games it has played in, giving it the best winning percentage of any Big Ten school that has participated in the classic sporting event.

Traditional Series Trophies

"ILLIBUCK"
(Ohio State-Since 1925)
"Illibuck" is--or was--a turtle, destined for long life, it was hoped. But the wear and tear of traveling between Champaign-Urbana and Columbus was too much, even for a hardy marine reptile. "Illinibuck" died in the spring of 1927 and his successor is now a wooden replica. Members of two junior honorary societies, Bucket and Dipper of Ohio State and Sachem of Illinois, annually meet at halftime of the Illini/Buckeye game to smoke the peace pipe and present the "Illibuck" trophy to last year's winning school.

"CANNON"
(Purdue-Since 1943)
The "Cannon," more accurately known as the "Purdue Cannon," made its first trip to Champaign-Urbana in 1905 when a group of Purdue students brought it to fire after a Boilermaker victory. Purdue won the game 29-=0, but the "Cannon" was never fired. Illinois student Quincy Hail found the "Cannon" hidden near the old Illinois Field. Hall and a group of Delta Upsilon brothers confiscated the "Cannon" and held it until 1943 when they donated it as a symbol of the Illinois/Purdue rivalry.

"TOMAHAWK"
(Northwestern-Since 1945)
The story of the Illinois/Northwestern trophy dates back to 1945 when the staff members of the two student newspapers conceived the idea of a wooden Indian, "Sweet Sioux."

In September of 1946, "Sweet Sioux" was stolen from a showcase at Northwestern. A Tomahawk trophy was inaugurated in 1947 to replace the wooden Indian and has been used ever since. "Sweet Sioux" was found in 1948, but was discarded because of its bulk.

Illinois' Retired Numbers

Only two numbers have been retired at the University of Illinois in its 100-year history. Red Grange and Dick Butkus have been essential elements in shaping the great tradition of Fighting Illini football, and are arguably the greatest offensive and defensive players who ever played the game.

77
Harold "Red" Grange

Halfback
(Retired November 21, 1925)

"They can argue all they want about the greatest football player who ever lived. I was satisfied I had him when I had Red Grange." -- Robert Zuppke, UI Head Football Coach

Following his final collegiate game against Ohio State in 1925, Red Grange removed his game jersey and the legendary No. 77 has never been worn since. Grange played three All-America seasons at Illinois (1923-25) and transcended the game of football to never before seen dimensions, just as Babe Ruth had taken baseball to a higher popularity. Raised in Wheaton, Ill., Red spent his summers as a youth delivering ice, lugging 100-pound blocks as many as 50 times a day. The job developed not only his muscles, but gave him a nickname. Dubbed "The Wheaton Iceman" by sportswriters, the name made headlines as Grange rambled for three touchdowns in his first college game in a victory over Nebraska. Grange finished the 1923 season with a Big Ten-leading 12 touchdowns while rushing for 723 yards. Illinois went on to a perfect 8-0 record and the national championship.

The following season, Illinois met

Michigan in the Memorial Stadium dedication game. It was estimated to be the largest crowd to ever watch a sporting event in the state, as 67,000 fans poured into the stadium that was built in dedication to Illini who lost their lives in World War I. In what is still considered one of the greatest performances on a football field, Grange scored four touchdowns in the first 12 minutes of the game. He scored the first four times he touched the ball on runs of 95, 67, 56, and 44 yards and left the game before the end of the first quarter. Grange later returned to score a fifth time and also throw for a sixth touchdown. Grange piled up 276 yards of total offense in addition to 126 yards in kickoff returns as the Fighting Illini upset the favored Wolverines, 39-14.

In his three years at Illinois, Grange rushed for 2,071 yards and still holds the all-time Illinois record for career touchdowns with 31. Also an excellent defensive player, Red intercepted 11 passes for an amazing average of 22.5 yards per return. Grange earned a reputation for the long touchdown run, as 11 of his 31 tallies came on gallops of 30 yards or more.

The day after Grange's final college game he signed with the Chicago Bears, owned by former Illinois player George Halas. Grange was an immediate success in the budding professional league, as he drew 36,000 curious spectators to Wrigley Field on Thanksgiving Day to see his professional debut. Ten days later 73,000 people saw him play at New York's Polo Grounds. In honor of his unprecedented impact on the game of football, George Halas said: "No other player in this century has had a greater impact on the game of football, college or professional, than Red Grange."

Grange is a charter member of both the College and Pro Football Halls of Fame, and was selected in 1989 to Walter Camp's All-Century Team.

50 Dick Butkus,

Center/Linebacker
(Retired September 20, 1986)

"He's the finest football player I have ever coached. From the first practice I could tell he was something special." -- Pete Elliott, UI Head Football Coach

During an emotional ceremony, the No. 50 worn by Dick Butkus from 1962-64 was retired at halftime of the Illinois-Nebraska game. Born on the South Side of Chicago, Butkus attended Chicago's Vocational High School and was the nation's top high school prospect in 1960. Butkus so impressed Elliot as a prep that he is perhaps the only college football player to be nominated for the Heisman Trophy by his coach before he played one minute of college football.

As a sophomore at the UI, Butkus rattled Big Ten ballcarriers with 97 tackles despite playing only seven games because of a knee injury, earning second-team All-Big Ten honors. In his junior season he began to establish the standard for all linebackers to strive for as he earned All-America honors. Butkus carried a young and untested Illinois team to the 1963 Big Ten title and a 17-7 Rose Bowl victory over Washington. Butkus recorded 144 tackles that season, anchoring a defense that allowed only 96 points in 10 games. In his senior season, Butkus made 132 stops and finished third in the Heisman Trophy balloting behind Notre Dame's John Huarte.

Elliott recalled one series Dick had against UCLA, typifying Butkus' domination on the defensive side of the ball:

"On first down, he shot the gap and hit the fullback two yards behind the line of scrimmage. On second down, UCLA faked the same play and came back with a counter. Butkus shed his block and made the tackle at the line of scrimmage. On third down, UCLA tried rollout pass into the flat and Butkus intercepted."

A number-one pick of the AFL Denver Broncos, Butkus elected to sign with the Chicago Bears as the NFL's third overall pick. He played nine seasons with the Bears, earning All-Pro honors eight times.

Butkus is a member of the College and Pro Football Halls of Fame, and a 1989 Walter Camp All-Century team selection. Today, an award given to the nation's best collegiate linebacker is appropriately named the Butkus Award and is sponsored by the Orlando, Fla. Downtown Athletic Club.

Homecoming

Homecoming, a tradition on just about every college campus in the United States, is celebrated with zest as graduates and former students return to renew fond college memories -- and it all began at the University of Illinois. The fall of 1990 marks the 80th year for the campus-wide celebration which began the weekend of October 14-16, 1910.

The "Homecoming" celebration was conceived in 1909 by UI students C.F. (Dab) Williams and W. Elmer Ekblaw, members of the Shield and Trident senior society. The Shield and Trident society joined with another senior society, Phoenix, to organize the three-day event and submitted a petition to the University Council of Administration asking the weekend to be set aside for the First Annual Fall Homecoming. Once the proposal was approved, the senior societies, having instituted the movement, resigned their claims to the Illinois Union, which has organized the Homecoming since that time.

At the center of the weekend festivities was the Illinois-Chicago football game on Saturday, Oct. 15, 1910. Illinois, under the leadership of Captain Glenn D. Butzer, scored the first victory over Chicago --by a score of 3-0, on a drop-kick by Otto Seiler. More than 1,500 graduates returned to Champaign-Urbana at the original Homecoming, one-third of all its graduates.

The weekend activities included a Varsity "Alumni" baseball game, an interclass track meet, a band reunion, a "rooter" cheering section at the game (which later became "Block I") and a Hobo band parade. The Hobo band parade was put on by the members of the senior class who paraded from Green Street to the Illinois Field. A prize for the most comical costume of the day was given, setting the stage for modern "Tailgreat" contests and celebrations.

The Marching Illini

Performing with Chief Illiniwek is the Illinois marching band, the "Marching Illini." This year's edition has more than 300 members, including 252 instrumentalists, a 36-member flag corps, 30 Illiniettes (a precision dance team), four drum majors and one featured twirler. Auditions were held throughout the spring and summer with more than 600 students competing for positions in the band. The 1990 Marching Illini represents one of the most select organizations in the band's history.

The unique style for which the Marching Illini has become famous represents a combination of tradition of the past and exciting innovations. All music and accompanying drills are written especially for the Marching Illini and have taken the band to the forefront of the great University bands as evidenced by becoming the 1983 recipient of the Louis Sudler Intercollegiate Marching Band Trophy.

At each university
But the yell that always thrills me,
And fills my heart with joy,
Is the good old Oskee-wow-wow,
That they yell at Illinois

CHORUS

Our eyes are all on you
Oskee-wow-wow, Illinois
Wave your Orange and Blue, Rah!

Chief Illiniwek

One of the most dramatic and dignified traditions in college athletics is the performance of Chief Illiniwek at the University of Illinois. Since 1926, this symbol has stirred pride and respect in audiences at Memorial Stadium and the Assembly Hall.

Illiniwek (pronounced "ill-EYE-nih-wek") was the name of the loose confederation of Algonquin tribes that once lived in the region. The French changed the ending to "ois" in naming what became the state of Illinois. Illiniwek means "they are men," and former Illinois football Coach Robert Zuppke is believed to have suggested calling the U. of I. symbol Chief Illiniwek.

In 1926, Assistant Band Director Ray Dvorak conceived the idea of performing an American Indian dance during halftime of the Illinois vs. Pennsylvania football game in Philadelphia. Lester Leutwiler, a student interested in Indian lore, was chosen for the role. Leutwiler's performance, done in a homemade costume, was received so well that he was asked to continue his dance through the 1928 season.

Webber Borchers, the second Chief Illiniwek, was the first to appear in authentic American Indian regalia. He initiated a campaign to raise money to replace his homemade outfit with an authentic one, but with the Depression on, he received just $15. However, a Champaign merchant stepped in to fund the rest and Borchers was off. He recalled: "In the summer of 1930 I went, at my own expense, to the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota. I hitchhiked out, called an Indian agent and explained my mission. He and an Indian trader called in an older Sioux Indian woman. She and two younger women made the suit."

On Nov. 8, 1930 in New York's Yankee Stadium, Illinois faced Army in the seventh game of the season. It was there that Borchers made the first appearance of Chief Illiniwek in that outfit. Since then, five different authentic outfits have been used by Chief Illiniwek. The one used in performances now was purchased in 1983 from Sioux Chief Frank Fools Crow, and is topped by a headdress of turkey feathers.

Holding the role of Chief Illiniwek this year is Kurt Gruben of Rochelle, Ill. Here are the names of the individuals who have portrayed Chief Illiniwek:

College Football Hall of Fame Members

J.C. Caroline (Inducted in 1980)

Caroline led the nation in rushing as a sophomore in 1953 with 1,256 yards in just nine games and was named All-America. He was called "the best all-around athlete I ever had in 26 years of coaching," by his Head Coach Ray Eliot. He led the Fighting Illini in rushing again in 1954 before entering the Canadian Football League, and later spent 10 seasons in the NFL with the Chicago Bears. Caroline lives in Champaign, Ill. and serves as a physical education instructor at the Urbana Middle School.

Chuck Carney (Inducted in 1966)

Tall, slender and sure-handed, Carney was an All-America receiver at Illinois in 1920. One of Head Coach Bob Zuppke's favorite targets, he once instructed one of his quarterbacks to "bombard passes in Carney's direction." After leaving Illinois, Carney served as the end coach at Northwestern, Wisconsin and Harvard. He is also the only Illinois athlete to earn All-America honors in both football (1920) and basketball (1920 & 22). Carney died in 1984.

Alex Agase (Inducted in 1963)

An All-America guard at Illinois in 1942 and '46, he holds the rare distinction of earning All-America honors at another school (Purdue) in 1943 while in the Army. He also was selected to Walter Camp Foundation's All-Century Team in 1989. Agase enjoyed a lengthy Big Ten coaching career, first as a head coach at Northwestern from 1964-1972; Purdue from 1973-1976; and, as a volunteer assistant coach at Michigan in charge of special teams from 1982-1987. He also served as athletic director at Eastern Michigan University from 1977-1982. Agase is now retired and living in Ypsilanti, Mich.

Bernie Shively (Inducted in 1982)

Red Grange was led to many of his spectacular scores by an agile, athletic guard who was so quick and powerful for his size that he wrestled for the Big Ten heavyweight championship in 1926. Bernie Shively lost the bout, however, after wrestling George Fisher of Indiana to a tie during regulation and then losing the coin toss to decide the champion. Shively earned All-America honors as a guard in 1926. Bernie joined the University of Kentucky's staff as an assistant football coach, before being named as that school's athletic director in 1938, a post he held until his death in 1967.

Claude "Buddy" Young (Inducted in 1968)

In a college career split by the armed services, the five-foot-five halfback earned All-America honors in 1944. Young still shares the Illinois record for most touchdowns in a season with 13 in his All-America year while rushing for 842 yards with an amazing 8.9 yards per carry average. He rushed for 103 yards in Illinois' 45-14 upset of unbeaten UCLA in the 1947 Rose Bowl and was selected as the game's MVP. A world-class sprinter, Young enjoyed a lengthy pro football career and served as an assistant commissioner in the NFL. He died in 1983.

Robert Zuppke (Inducted in 1951)

Hired by Athletic Director George Huff as head football coach in 1913, Zuppke held the position for 29 years, the longest tenure of any Illinois head coach. An innovator and trend-setter Zuppke established many of the current traditions and styles of football today. He is credited with inventing several different formations, the flea-flicker, the huddle and spring practice. He also recruited and coached Red Grange, considered by many as the greatest player in football history. In all, Zuppke won four national titles (1914, 1919, 1923, 1927), seven conference championships, and compiled a record of 131-81-13. The playing field at Memorial Stadium is named after him, and is identified by a large stone engraving under the scoreboard in the north end zone. Zuppke died in 1957.

Red Grange (Inducted in 1951)

Grange is credited with establishing the popularity of pro football as its first legitimate "star." At five-foot-10 and 170 pounds, Grange was a three-time consensus All-America halfback at Illinois from 1923-25. After his final game at Illinois, Grange signed with the Chicago Bears, owned by Illinois alumnus George Halas. During an age when professional football rarely saw crowds of more than a few thousand, Grange attracted 36,000 spectators for his pro debut on Thanksgiving Day at Wrigley Field; ten days later 73,000 people watched him play at New York's Polo Grounds.

Grange still holds the Illinois record for career touchdowns with 31. In addition to his feats as a halfback, Grange is sixth on Illinois' all-time career interception list with 11; third in career punt return yardage; and possessed amazing average yards per carry statistics in interceptions (22.5), pass receptions (18.1) and kickoff returns (30.2) He is also a charter member of both the college and Pro Football Halls of Fame. Former coach Bob Zuppke said, upon Grange leaving Illinois, "I will never have another Grange, but neither will anyone else." Grange's legendary number "77" was retired after the completion of his final game at Illinois, Nov. 21, 1925. Grange is a member of the Camp Foundation's All-Century team, and is the only player on the team that Camp actually saw play. Grange is retired and living in Indian Lakes Estates, Fla.

Dick Butkus (Inducted in 1983)

Butkus remains the standard for which all linebackers are compared. He played two All-America seasons at Illinois (1963-64) before enjoying a Hall of Fame career with the Chicago Bears, where he was a six-time All-Pro selection. Gale Sayers called Butkus the "fiercest tackler of his time." In 1964 he finished third in the Heisman Trophy balloting to Notre Dame's John Huarte. College football's annual award for the outstanding collegiate linebacker is appropriately named after Butkus and is awarded each year by the Downtown Athletic Club of Orlando, Fla.. Butkus and Red Grange are the only players to have their numbers retired at Illinois. Butkus' No. 50 was retired during the halftime of the Illinois-Nebraska game, Sept. 20, 1986. He was also honored on the 1989 Walter Camp Foundation All-Century team. Butkus is now enjoying a successful acting and entertainment career and resides with his family in Malibu, Calif.

Bart Macomber (Inducted in 1972)

Macomber joined All-America Hal Pogue in the backfield to lead Illinois and second-year Head Coach Bob Zuppke to their first national championship in 1914. That team shut out its first four opponents before allowing just 22 total points during a perfect 7-0 season. Macomber had also played for Zuppke as a prep at Oak Park High School. The following year Macomber earned All-America honors as a halfback, and was captain of the 1916 team. He was a versatile athlete who could play every backfield position, and did a majority of the team's kicking. Macomber died in 1971.

Bob Blackman (Inducted in 1987)

Blackman served as Illinois' head football coach from 1971-76 where he compiled a 29-36-1 record. During his six seasons at Illinois, Blackman coached future NFL stars Scott

Studwell, Larry McCarren and Revie Sorey as well as All-Americans Tab Bennett and Dan Beaver. Before heading the Illinois program, Blackman enjoyed great success at Dartmouth College where he compiled a 104-37-3 record in 16 seasons. In 15 years of official Ivy League competition, Blackman's Dartmouth Indians were 79-24-2, won four league championships outright, shared three other championships, had three perfect 9-0 seasons (1962, 1965, 1970) and won two Lambert Trophies, symbolic of supremacy in eastern college football. Blackman is now retired and living in Hilton Head, S.C.. He also serves as chairman of the selection committee for the annual East/West Shrine Game.

Edward K. Hall (Inducted in 1951)

Became the third coach in Illinois history from 1892-93, where he compiled a 12-5-5 record. It is Hall's off-field contributions to the game of football that earned him his recognition. He is credited with proposing and writing the first Football Code for the proper conduct of its players. In an age when the game was often brutal and reckless, Hall's code was adopted and later appeared the Official Football Guide. Hall is also known for putting the 1892 Illinois team through the most grueling schedule ever thrust upon a college football team. The Fighting Illini, with only 18 players, played six games in just eight days, in three states. Illinois went 4-2 on the trip and finished Hall's first season with a 9-3-2 record. No Illinois team has ever played more games in one season. At the time of his death in 1932, William Bingham, Harvard's Athletic Director, said, "If Walter Camp was the father of American Football, certainly E.K. Hall was the 'savior' of the game."

George W. Woodruff (Inducted in 1963)

Woodruff coach led the University of Pennsylvania in its greatest days in college football. He compiled a 124-15-2 record from 1892-1901 at Penn. His 1897 Pennsylvania team was a perfect 15-0 and was recognized as national champions. Woodruff coached one season at Illinois, compiling a record of 8-6 in 1903. He died in 1934.

The Silver Football Award

The Chicago Tribune has awarded the Silver Football to the Big Ten's Most Valuable Player each year since 1924. To be eligible for the conference award, a player must have been selected as his team's MVP.

Former Illinois quarterback Jeff George, who was a consensus first team All-Big Ten in 1989, was taken as the first pick of the first round by the Indianapolis Colts, April 22, 1990. George became the highest NFL draft pick ever by a Fighting Illini player and just the third Big Ten player to be the top choice since the AFL-NFL common draft was instituted in 1967. Michigan State's Bubba Smith (1967) and Ohio State's Tom Cousineau (1979) were the other No. 1s.

Joe Rutgens and Dick Butkus were the previous high draft choices from Illinois when Rutgens was taken as the third overall pick by the Washington Redskins in 1961 and Butkus the third pick by the Chicago Bears in 1965. Jim Grabowski was the first overall pick by the Miami Dolphins of the AFL in 1966, becoming the first choice ever by the Dolphins. George signed a reported $15 million, six-year contract with the Colts.

Jeff George, number one pick in the 1990 NFL draft.

COACH SCOTT WILLIAMS

(1 year, 1-2-0)

Scott Williams was the man credited with introducing the game of football to the University of Illinois campus. Even though the first college football game was played in 1869, no one seemed to have heard of the sport when Williams, who played at the high school level in Normal, just 50 miles from Champaign-Urbana, managed to gather and teach enough players to play in three games in the inaugural season of 1890. Williams coached,captained and quarterbacked that '90 team, and, by the time he left Illinois in 1893, had played every position on the team with the exception of guard and center.

COACH ROBERT LACKEY

(1 year, 6-0-0)

Robert Lackey, like Scott Williams, coached the Fighting Illini for just one season. Lackey had been the captain of the 1890 Purdue team, which had humiliated Illinois, 62-0. In addition to his coaching duties, he played halfback part of the time on that '91 team, which played in a league for the first time, and won its championship cup.

COACH E.K. HALL

(2 years, 12-5-5)

E.K. Hall, according to Scott Williams, developed a class of football at Illinois "second to none in the west" in the seasons of 1892 and 1893, the same two years in which the Fighting Illini wore green uniforms. One of the most noteworthy happenings during Hall's tenure was an "ironman trip," in which the 18-man Illinois team played six games in eight days. A former Dartmouth athlete, Hall was called "Boss Hall" by his players.

COACH LOUIS D. VAIL

(1 year, 5-3-0)

Louis D. Vail became Illinois' third football coach in 1894. Not much is known about Vail, except that his season was full of controversy. A dispute arose over his participation in the Chicago game, and many question able referees' calls were the focus of attention in the game with Indianapolis Light Artillery.

COACH GEORGE A. HUFF

(5 years, 21-16-3)

George Huff, born on a Champaign, Illinois farm in 1872, first attended the University of Illinois at age 15. He not only played and coached football at the UI, but he coached baseball (for 24 years) and was the athletic director and director of the School of Physical Education. He was also, for a brief time, the manager of the Boston American League baseball team, and later was a talent scout during many summers for that team. Huff had the title of head football coach from 1895-99, but performed most of the duties for just the first two of those five years. In 1897, the year the Intercollegiate Conference of Faculty Representatives (the Big Ten Conference) was formed, Fred Smith, formerly of Princeton, actually took over the football-coaching reins and remained for two seasons. In 1899, Neilson Poe, another former Princeton player, actually the Fighting Illini. Huff broke tradition in 1913 when he brought in a high school football coach as the Illinois head coach. That coach was the immortal Bob Zuppke.

COACH EDGAR G. HOLT

(2 years, 18-4-1)

Edgar G. Holt posted the best winning percentage (.804) of any Fighting Illini coach to have served for more than one year, but his teams finished only fourth and fifth in the league in his two seasons, despite their impressive records. His 1902 team recorded eight shutouts. Holt coached two players of note, guard/running back Jake Stahl, a bruising runner, who later went on to manage professional baseball's Boston Red Sox, and tackle Justa Lindgren, who became Illinois' football coach in 1906.

The former University of Pennsylvania coach picked up eight victories to open the campaign (mostly over weaker competition), and proceeded to drop the final six games, including the last four as shutouts. Woodruff returned to the East directly after the season.

(1 year, 9-2-1)

This was a case of coaching by committee. Four men, Justa Lindgren, Arthur Hall, Fred Lowenthal and Clyde Mathews, were in charge of the 1904 Illinois football team; each of the former three had his own stint as head coach between 1905 and 1912.

Lowenthal, who played center, left guard and left tackle for Illinois from 1898-1901 had moderate success overall; he produced a winning record, but failed to win a conference game.As a player, he was selected by the Chicago Post to its All-Western team.

COACH ARTHUR R. HALL
(6 years, 27-10-3)

Arthur R. Hall was the first man to coach Illinois football for a period of six years or more. The forward pass came into being during this period, and Hall installed it into his offense, with quarterback "Pom" Sinnock the first notable passer for the Fighting Illini. Hall's 1910 team was Illinois' first Big Ten (then Big Eight) football champion; that team outscored its seven opponents, 89-0, with three of the victories coming 3-0 on the strength of dropkick field goals by Otto Seiler. Hall played for the Fighting Illini at halfback and left end from 1898-1900.

COACH ROBERT C. ZUPPKE
(29 years, 131-81-13)

Robert C. Zuppke coached the University of Illinois football team in 225 games over a span of 29 years, the longest term of any Fighting Illini grid mentor. Zuppke, who was born in Germany and raised in Wisconsin, coached Oak Park (Illinois) High School to national championships in 1911 and 1912 before coming to Champaign-Urbana in time for the 1913 season. Zuppke was an innovator as a coach; he is credited with originating such contributions to the game of football as the "flea-flicker" play, the screen pass, the spiral snap from center, spring practice, and, of course, the huddle. He led Illinois to all four of its national championships: in 1914, 1919, 1923 and 1927. In addition, Zuppke's teams won seven Big Ten championships.

COACH RAY ELIOT

(18 years, 83-73-11)

Ray Eliot, known to Illinois football fans as "Mr. Illini," held the position of head football coach at the UI for more years than anyone else except Bob Zuppke. Eliot was born Raymond Nusspickel at Brighton, Mass. in 1905, and graduated from the University of Illinois in 1932 after lettering in baseball, and football three times as a tackle. After entering the coaching profession at Illinois College in Jacksonville, he returned to the UI in 1937 as line coach under Zuppke before replacing him in 1942. At Illinois, Eliot produced Big Ten championships in 1946, 1951 and 1953; his teams claimed Rose Bowl victories, 45-14, over UCLA in 1947, and 40-7, over Stanford in 1952. Eliot, who for years was in demand as a lecturer at football clinics around the nation, was renowned as a motivator, as evidenced by a nine word motto he uttered, which typified his Fighting Illini spirit: "Anything you think you can do, you can do."

COACH PETE ELLIOTT

Pete Elliott, a native of Bloomington, Ill., became only the third football coach at Illinois in 47 years in 1960. When he was hired, he was the Big Ten's youngest head football coach at age 33; he had already coached for 10 years--as an assistant at Oregon State and Oklahoma, and as head coach at Nebraska and California. A 12-letter winner and quarterback on the school's 1948 national champions,Elliott represented three different schools in the Rose Bowl: Michigan (he quarterbacked the Wolverines to a 49-0 win over Southern Cal in 1948), California (he coached California, but lost, 38-12, in 1959 to Iowa) and Illinois (he coached the Fighting Illini to a 17-7 triumph over Washington in 1964). His 1963 team, with Dick Butkus and Jim Grabowski, produced Illinois' only Big Ten championship during his tenure.

COACH JIM VALEK
(4 years, 8-32-0)

Jim Valek, a native of Joliet, played end on Ray Eliot's football teams at Illinois from 1945-48; he was the team's MVP his senior year. After coaching stops at the high school level, and as an assistant during Eliot's final season at Illinois and Pete Elliott's first campaign in Champaign, as well as at Army and South Carolina, Valek took over Fighting Illini fortunes upon Elliott's departure in 1967.

COACH BOB BLACKMAN
(6 years, 29-36-1)

Bob Blackman was a native of Big Ten country--from DeSoto, Iowa, originally, and later from Chicago. His move in 1971 from Dartmouth to Illinois, was a move home, of sorts. He had won 104 games in 16 years at the Ivy League school; three of his seasons there had produced undefeated records. Blackman was the fifth-winningest active collegiate coach (with 150 victories) when he arrived on the UI campus as the school's third coach in a decade. It was his job to raise Illinois football fortunes from their all-time low of the late sixties. He accomplished that, however, the only winning team he produced was the 1974 squad, which went 6-4-1.

COACH GARY MOELLER
(3 years, 6-24-3)

Gary Moeller was brought in by athletic director Cecil Coleman to elevate the Illinois football program back into Big Ten title contention. Moeller knew what it was like to be a Big Ten contender--he had coached with Bo Schembechler for two years at Miami of Ohio, and for ten more at Michigan. His reputation as an outstanding recruiter was in for a test at Illinois. Like Jim Valek, he picked up half of his wins at the UI his first season as coach, but in his case, they amounted to only three of the six total in three seasons.

COACH MIKE WHITE
(8 years, 47-41-3)

Mike White was new athletic director Neale Stoner's choice to run the UI football program starting in 1980. He had declined Pete Elliott's overtures to join him at Illinois in 1960, but had since picked up some impressive coaching credentials. Learning from some of the game's heavyweights--Bill Walsh, Dick Vermeil, Marv Levy and John Ralston--he coached California to a Pac-8 championship with a nation-leading offense (459 yards per game) in 1975. Along the way, he had helped to develop such passers as Joe Roth, Jim Plunkett, Steve Bartkowski and Craig Morton, and would add to his list at Illinois with the likes of Dave Wilson, Tony Eason and Jack Trudeau.White's wide-open passing philosophy seemed to be just what the Fighting Illini needed at the time. His teams virtually rewrote the UI record books in the passing department, and brought Illinois back to Big Ten contender status. Five of White's eight Illinois teams posted winning records. The 1982 squad (7-5-0) played in the Liberty Bowl against Alabama (in the legendary Bear Bryant's final game as Crimson Tide head coach); that was Illinois' first bowl game appearance since the 1964 Rose Bowl. The 1983 Big Ten Championship team (10-2), which played in the 1984 Rose Bowl, still is the only one in Big Ten history to have defeated all nine conference teams in the same season.

COACH JOHN MACKOVIC

(2 years, 16-7-1)

John Mackovic became Illinois' 19th head football coach on February 3, 1988. Since then, he has built the Fighting Illini into not only a Big Ten contender, but also a force to be reckoned with nationally. He enters the 1990 season with a 16-7-1 record after two years at Illinois. Both of his UI teams have played in Bowl games (1988 All American Bowl and 1989 Florida Citrus Bowl) and both helped him to earn Dave McLain Big Ten Coach of the Year honors. Mackovic is the first to have attained the distinction in each of his first two years in the league. His 1989 team tied the school record (set in 1983) for victories with 10.

Mackovic, who was named athletic director at Illinois on December 23, 1988, is a native of Barberton, Ohio. He played quarterback at Wake Forest, and began his coaching career as a graduate assistant under Bo Schembechler at Miami of Ohio in 1965. His other stops along the coaching trail have been at Army, San Jose State, Arizona, Purdue and the Dallas Cowboys as an assistant, and at Wake Forest and the Kansas City Chiefs as a head coach.

Some Closing Facts About Covering The Fighting Illini

MEDIA INFORMATION

The University of Illinois Sports Information Office is pleased to present this preseason publication on the 1990 Fighting Illini football team. We hope that it will answer most of your questions. This guide will be supplemented with weekly materials throughout the entire 1990 season. Please take a moment to review the following media-related information. As always, if I or my staff can be of further service, please call the UI Sports Information Office at 217/333-1390.

Mike Pearson
Sports Information Director
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign

Press Box

Entrance to Pressbox - Enter the press box via the press elevator that is located midway at the base of the west side of Memorial Stadium (press box side of the field). This elevator will go to all levels of the press box. Credentials which are not mailed may be picked up at the "Press Will Call" window at the midpoint of the west side of the stadium, not at the press door. No parking passes will be left at the "Press Will Call" window. Persons picking up credentials will be required to furnish positive identification. All credentials are non-transferable.

Press Box Levels - There are three levels in the Memorial Stadium Press Box: 1) Working Press Deck (print media); 2) Photo Deck (photographers, home/visiting radio & TV networks); and 3) Special Guests Booths (also includes booths for home/visiting coaching staffs).

Working Press Deck (level 1) - This level is reserved for print media, non-originating radio and TV reporters, and Sports Information personnel only. Non-workers will not be seated in this or any other area of the press box. Several charge-a-call telephones are located on this level. If you have concerns about meeting tight deadlines, we strongly encourage you to order your own telephone (see "Telephones" section).

Photo Deck (level 2) - This deck offers a spacious area for all broadcast video photographers who are covering the game. This area also will be used for videotaping by each of the coaching staffs. Additionally, the photo deck includes booth space for home and visiting radio and TV networks. This level also contains the food service area for the press box.

Special Guests (level 3) - This level contains individual booths for the University of Illinois' special guests, as well as separate booths for home and visiting coaching staffs.

Sidelines

The University of Illinois follows NCAA and Big Ten rules regarding media representatives on the sidelines. Photographers are not permitted to shoot between the 25-yard lines and they must wear both a sidelines credential and a photo armband at all times. Sideline personnel will escort any violators from the stadium.

Credentials

Press Box - All members of the media covering the game in a working capacity must seek appropriate credentials in advance from Mike Pearson, UI Sports Information Director. We would appreciate receiving these requests at least two weeks before the date of the game. Requests for working space in the press box, sideline photo passes and parking passes must be made on your affiliation's letterhead stationery. In the event of heavy demand for credentials for a particular game, requests will be prioritized according to published circulation numbers. Be specific when requesting the type of credential needed. Spouses, dates, non-workers, and children will not be permitted in the press box. Media agencies that violate this policy will not be issued credentials for future games. The press box is open to the media three hours prior to kickoff.

Sideline Credentials - Photographers with game-day sideline credentials must enter through the press box entrance on the west side of Memorial Stadium. To secure an armband, photographers must go through the west Great Hall into the stadium, down the steps, onto the playing field, and proceed directly to the Photo Lounge located under the south stands. Your game credential alone will not gain admittance to the sidelines. You must have a game armband! Food and drinks are available for photographers in the Photo Lounge before each game and at halftime.

Road-game Credentials - Media credential requests for Fighting Illini road games should be addressed to the Sports Information Director of the host institution. Be specific when requesting the type of credential needed.

Parking

Media parking is located across First Street, just west of Memorial Stadium. You should request your parking credential at the same time you request your game-day working credential. If time permits (at least five working days), both of these credentials will be mailed. Those who request parking passes the week of the game must pick them up either by no later than 5:00 p.m. Friday at the UI Sports Information Office (115 Assembly Hall) or at the Friday-night media function.

Hotel Rooms

The Sports Information Office has a limited number of rooms reserved in the Champaign-Urbana area. Please contact SID secretary Janice Revell at least one week in advance and she will try to accommodate you.

Pregame and Postgame Services

Play-by-play, halftime and complete final statistics, quote sheets, and pregame and postgame notes are all regular services on game day.

Postgame - Coach John Mackovic and selected UI players will be available approximately 10-15 minutes after the conclusion of the game, and will be brought to the interview room (located on the ground floor of the football facility in the northeast corner of Memorial Stadium). A member of the SID staff will escort members of the media to the Illinois interview area and will leave the press box with approximately three minutes remaining in the game. Those interested in audiotaping grouped interviews should connect their recorders to the distribution amplifier provided by Sports Information. Output from the device is microphone level, terminated in 1/8" two-conductor plugs and jacks, or three-in standard microphone male connectors.

The visiting SID will lead his media down to the visitors' interview area, located in a tent at the northwest corner of the stadium.

Telephones

Telephone lines in the press box must be ordered at least one week in advance of the game(s) for which they are needed. The orders should be addressed to Tony Mangano of Illinois Bell at (312) 727-5194, during regular business hours. No telephone lines or instruments are available through the UI Sports Information Office. Several charge-a-call phones are located on the Working Press Deck (level 1). In addition, a pay telephone is located on the second level of the press box.

Coach Mackovic Interviews

The best time to interview Coach John Mackovic is each Tuesday during the season at the weekly press luncheon (Memorial Stadium Varsity Room, 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.). He'll be available on the Big Ten teleconference call from 12:10-12:20 p.m., central time (see "Big Ten Teleconferences" for more information).
